Red Methodist Charges False, Minister Says

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan-born clergyman named in connection with an alleged Communist conspiracy to infiltrate the Methodist church said Monday night the statement about him was "utterly false."

The Rev. Charles Webber said he has a record of anti-Communist activities dating back to 1934.

Rev. Webber, named in a long list of ministers by former Communist Benjamin Gitlow before the House Un-American Activities Committee, added:

"I have never been a Communist sympathizer or a Communist party member. Any testimony charging me with activities under the Communist party direction is false, lying testimony."

Former president of the Virginia CIO Council, Rev. Webber now is on a community relations assignment with the CIO in Detroit.

Bitter Fighting Foreseen In UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia and the Western powers squared off for 12 weeks of bitter fighting today as the U.N. General Assembly gathered again to debate such issues as Korea and the seating of Red China in the world organization.

As the diplomats assembled for the opening this afternoon of their eighth annual session, Western delegates were confident the 60-nation body would sidetrack the Chinese question for the remainder of this year at least.

They also believed the Assembly would stand pat on its previous recommendation that the Korean peace conference be a two-sided negotiation rather than a round-table of belligerents and neutrals.

This afternoon's meeting was scheduled to be devoted to the election of an Assembly president, seven vice presidents and seven committee chairmen.

The colorful sister of India's Prime Minister Nehru, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, was reported to have enough support for election as president, but Prince Wan Wathayakon of Thailand still was in the race. Mrs. Pandit had the support of both the Soviet block and the leading Western powers, including the United States.

Turnout In Detroit Primary Election May Reach New Low

(By The Associated Press)

Detroit election officials feared that today's turnout for primary might end up the smallest in a decade.

Despite good weather, few Detroiters appeared at the polls in the morning hours.

Election officials, feared the total number of voters would fall below the 20,000 mark, the lowest vote count in the past 10 years. The modern record for disinterest in a primary election in Detroit was chalked up in 1935 when only 86,338 people voted.

Radio Stations Give Air Warning

LANSING (AP)—Thirty Michigan radio stations equipped with "Conelrad" is a contraction for "control of electromagnetic radiation," a method of broadcasting on either 640 or 1240 kilocycles, under reduced power.

"Conelrad" will participate Wednesday morning in a nationwide test of the system for confusing enemy air attacks.

Brig. Gen. Lester J. Maitland, state civil defense director, said that normally-operated radio stations would serve as beacons for invading aircraft but that Conelrad permits radio stations to continue broadcasting information and warnings to the public without assisting the raiders.

The nationwide test will be conducted between 1:30 a.m. and 4:30 a.m. Wednesday.

In three cities, Detroit, Grand Rapids and Flint, "clusters" of local stations will operate on the same frequencies, carrying the same programs but switching the broadcasts among each other at intervals of from five to 40 seconds.

In addition, since stations at Benton Harbor, Cadillac, Coldwater, Ishpeming, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Muskegon, Saginaw, Sault Ste. Marie and Sturgis will operate on an "on-off" principal, transmitting on their assigned frequencies for periods of five to 20 seconds and two to six minutes off.

Solution Of Trout Mystery Sought In Howard City Creek

HOWARD CITY (AP)—Solution to one of Michigan's most intriguing fish mysteries was sought here today.

A State Fisheries division crew equipped with shocking devices which momentarily stun fish and bring them to the surface, arrived to shock Tamarack Creek in an effort to determine whether there are more lake trout in that water.

At least seven such fish, ranging in length from 16 to 22 inches, have been caught by anglers in the Tamarack.

The lake trout, strictly a denizen of very deep and very cold waters, has never been known to prosper in shallow streams. Moreover, there is no official record of lake trout ever having been planted in lakes or impoundments connected with the Tamarack.

Slaying Of Five Is Admitted By Ex-Marine, 19

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y. (AP)—The Chief of Ontario County detectives was expected to take the witness stand again today as the state sought to prove that Fred Eugene Mc Manus was guilty of premeditated murder in the shooting of a young college freshman last March.

In closing testimony Monday, the officer, Anthony L. Cecere, read a 12-page confession he said he had obtained from the 19-year-old ex-Marine who has admitted slaying five persons.

It was the second statement from Mc Manus that State Supreme Court Justice H. Douglass Van Duser admitted in evidence during the first-degree murder trial.

Ride In Convertible
The first one—48 pages long—was read by Johnny J. Haggerty, secretary to the chief of detectives at Rochester.

Mc Manus is specifically charged with the murder last March 27 of William Allan Braverman, a Hobart College student.

In the statements read the court, Mc Manus told how he left Rochester to "pick up some money and a car" so that he could marry his 16-year-old sweetheart, Diane Marie Wegeland.

Mc Manus said Braverman picked him up in a flashy red convertible.

When they turned off a dirt road near Pittsford, the statement said, Mc Manus drew his pistol.

"I'd feel better if I were driving," he said.

Braverman allowed Mc Manus to take the wheel and asked that he "be careful of my new car."

Mc Manus said he later ordered Braverman out of the car, and when Braverman protested, Mc Manus shot him.

Buried In Gravel Pit
Mc Manus said he buried the body in a gravel pit.

Mc Manus and Diane were picked up by police in Dubuque, Iowa after a crime studded tour through the Midwest. Mc Manus admitted killing a coupe in Illinois and two women in Minnesota for a total robbery take of less than $60.

In his opening statement before the court, defense attorney M. Maurice Chacchia said Mc Manus and Diane had come to believe that society had rejected them.

Mrs. Pandit Of India New U.N. President

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—India backed Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, its "Goddess of Victory," today to become the first woman president of the United Nations General Assembly.

Mrs. Pandit and Prince Wan Wathayakon of Thailand were the main candidates for elections late in the day. With the backing of the United States and several other countries, Mrs. Pandit appeared to be in the winning position.

An aristocratic rebel, she was christened Swarn Karumi—Beautiful Princess. She fought alongside her brother, now Premier Jawaharlal Nehru, for India's independence, and served three terms in a British prison, emerging for the last time in 1943 after nine months in the Naini jail cells.

Now she is 53, widowed, a grandmother of four, her hair gray over her unlined complexion—and still an aristocratic rebel demanding independence for areas of Asia and Africa.

Her calm face, her short figure wrapped in rich silk saris, have become familiar in U. N. halls. She stood out in diplomatic circles of Moscow and Washington after the war as India's first woman ambassador to those capitals.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Another 428 liberated prisoners of war are due to arrive here Wednesday aboard the Navy transport Gen. William M. Black, the seventh freedom ship bringing ex-POWs from Korea.

Two more ships carrying former prisoners are due later this month. Twenty-one repatriated POWs arrived at Travis Air Force Base north of here Monday aboard hospital planes. They were to be sent to hospitals near their homes.

Allies Await Answer From Communists On 300 Missing POWs

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Communists may answer Wednesday Allied demands for an accounting of more than 3,000 U. N. military personnel, including 944 Americans, believed still in Red captivity.

The Joint Military Armistice Commission scheduled a meeting for 11 a. m. Wednesday (8 p. m. CST tonight), its first since the names of the missing men were turned over with the demand for a prompt accounting.

In sharp contrast to previous displays of violence, 2,000 anti-Communist North Korean and Chinese prisoners were turned over to Indian custody in the Panmunjom neutral zone without incident.

The Indian troops—who for six days have checked disturbances by the prisoners—took extra precautions to avoid outbreaks.

They moved Allied and Communist observers farther away from compounds housing the POWs and removed them from stations at some processing centers. The number of newsmen from each side allowed to watch the transfers was cut from 25 to 5 for each side.

The prisoners were part of 8,000 North Korean and 14,700 Chinese POWs who refused repatriation.

Nine North Koreans who had a change of heart after delivery to the Indians were turned over to the Communists for return to Red-run North Korea.

The top Communist delegate to the military armistice commission, Lt. Gen. Lee Sung Cho, questioned the nine on their treatment in Allied captivity.

State Hunts Heirs Of Woman Who Left $240,000 In Litter

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—State inheritance tax officials have started a search for heirs to an aged woman who left a $240,000 estate in a bank vault Monday.

Mrs. Theresa Stoddy Porter, about 80, about whom an Evanston legend had grown, died Saturday at the farm home of Harry Sull, in Palatine, Ill. Sull, a friend of Mrs. Porter, told police he had taken her home several weeks ago when he found her ill in her decrepit two-story brick home on Lake Shore boulevard.

Franklin Bliss Snyder Jr., an attorney who drew Mrs. Porter's will, said she had no relatives closer than third or fourth cousins.

Police said three old automobiles, including one electric, were in Mrs. Porter's garage. They said she was the widow of Albert B. Porter, former owner of a science equipment business, who died in 1909. She had lived alone in the 10-room house since her husband's death.

Democrats Rant At Eisenhower Foreign Policies

By JACK BELL
CHICAGO (AP)—Democrats accused President Eisenhower today of breaking his 1952 campaign pledges to the farmers and predicted the reaction will cost Republicans control of Congress next year.

Three former secretaries of Agriculture—Sen. Anderson (D-NM), Charles F. Brannan and Claude Wickard—spearheaded an assault on GOP farm policies as the Democratic conference here rolled toward a climactic televised report to the nation tonight by Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 party presidential nominee.

Williams Leads Barrage
Former President Truman today seconded vigorously Stevenson's biting attack Monday night on the Eisenhower administration's foreign policies.

Truman declared he feared Republican handling of international affairs is alienating U. S. Allies.

Stevenson scheduled a "non-partisan" review of his recent world tour tonight in advance of his expected meeting with President Eisenhower soon to go over the former Democratic nominee's conversations with top diplomats of the free world.

The Democratic barrage against GOP farm policies was fired at a panel discussion captained by Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

Promises Broken
Williams cited Eisenhower's campaign promises last year, saying the GOP promise was not only to sustain the 90 per cent parity price support program but to work toward helping the farmer obtain full 100 per cent parity. Parity is a standard calculated to give farmers a fair return on their products in relation to the cost of things they buy.

The Michigan governor said Secretary of Agriculture Benson had stalled federal help in drought areas to the point "where the rains came before Benson."

Anderson told about 300 applauding delegates that in the years since 1910 when the Democrats were in power the farmers had received 77 billion dollars more than parity in income. In contrast, he said during the period of Republican control of the government the farmers' income was 12 billion dollars less than parity.

"If they want full parity, the farmers know that the only place to get it is when the Democrats are in office," Anderson declared.

Asserting that "it's terrible what has happened to the farm markets," Anderson said he believes the farmers would turn out next year to help put Democrats back in control of Congress.

Rains Save GOP
Brannan joined with Williams in declaring that Eisenhower had broken campaign pledges of last year.

Wickard said the Republican administration had demonstrated that it has "no enthusiasm" for farm price support programs.

"The Republican administration has run out on its pledge to the farmer and the farmer knows it," Wickard declared.

John C. White, Texas commissioner, said the Republican administration had broken campaign pledges of last year.

At least a half dozen bids for the purchase of the Escanaba Daily Press will be available for the public opening of the bids to be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 in Room 153, Junior High School building.

James E. Frost, executor of the John P. Norton estate, said this morning that several bids had been received up to noon today. Prospective bidders may submit bids anytime today.

The bids will be publicly opened tomorrow afternoon but it is not expected that a decision will be reached promptly. The bids are subject to careful analysis and investigation of character references and financial responsibility.

More than 80 brochures of the company's financial records and other pertinent information concerning the sale have been distributed to applicants.

The newspaper is a part of the estate of the late John P. Mrs. Norton died in December 1949 and Mr. Norton died in July 1950.

Cash bequests to Mack Norton and Charles Norton of Cassopolis, brothers of John P. Norton, and to Thomas Norton, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., a nephew, totaling $20,000 and a $100 bequest to St. Joseph Church for masses for Mrs. Norton have been paid by the estate.

Barn Burns, Hens Killed Near Perkins

A fire on the farm of John Aper, between Brampton and Perkins, destroyed a barn and its entire contents of hay, grain and machinery Monday morning at 3.

The fire also killed 400 laying hens and burned down a silo. The flames lit up the area for a considerable distance.

The Aper house did not catch fire.

A family dog barked and wakened the Aper family. Brampton, Rock and Perkins fire departments turned out to fight the blaze, along with about 100 men from the area.

The farm formerly belonged to Alphonse Beauchamp, when it was known as the Fairfield Dairy Farm.

Sale Marks End Of Delta Hardware Retail Trade

Liquidation of all retail merchandise in a special sale beginning at 2 p. m. today will mark the end of an era for the Delta Hardware Company, one of Escanaba's pioneer business establishments, which was purchased recently by Morley Murphy Company of Green Bay.

After 53 years of operation as a retail store, the Delta Hardware will, upon completion of the present liquidation sale, close its retail department completely and confine its operations to handling wholesale merchandise only.

The Escanaba business firm was opened in 1900 as a small retail store with a 25-foot frontage on Ludington street. Entering the wholesale business as well in later years, it grew to its present size, a 200-foot frontage with 140 feet in depth in its main sales building and business offices and a warehouse measuring 300 by 120 feet.

"After serious consideration of the many factors involved, including the conflicting problems of retail and wholesale merchandising, the present policy was adopted," John H. Fawcett, vice president and general manager of Delta Hardware, said this morning.

"Our wholesale business has grown to the point that we cannot properly serve both types of customers and in order to provide room for new lines and larger wholesale stocks it has become necessary to liquidate retail stocks at once."

In the future, the store's business will be confined strictly to wholesaling general hardware, household items, sporting goods, automotive supplies, plumbing and electrical contractor supplies and appliances through hundreds of dealers in Upper Michigan and Northeastern Wisconsin, Fawcett said.

It was emphasized that the expanded wholesale organization of store in line with its new policy will permit the firm to continue to employ all those persons who worked with Delta Hardware as a retail and wholesale store.

Modernization Program

The store's facilities are being modernized to provide better service for both local and out-of-town dealers, it was reported. A new service door for local dealers is being established at the east end of the building on Fourth street.

Plans also call for installing a new general entrance at the front of the building. Because the main building will be used as a warehouse for additional lines, the display windows on Ludington street will be discontinued, it was pointed out.

The big display windows will be partially covered and will be used only for lighting purposes. Merchandise will not be displayed there in the future.

The name of the store will not be changed, Fawcett said.

Tree Planting Project Begins

Tree planting operations, delayed for several weeks, because of unfavorably dry conditions, were begun today in Raco and Munising districts of the Hiawatha National Forest, according to R. W. Knutson in charge of reforestation operations here.

The scene of operation will be in the vicinity of the Tie Hill lookout tower west of Federal Highway 13.

There are 750 acres in the area to be planted with about an equal amount of red and jackpine to be set out. All of the stock to be planted has been secured from the Chittenden Nursery at Wellston, a federal project. The planting will be done by machinery.

Planting operations as a rule start in late August, but the protracted dry spell of late summer held up operations. Good soaking rains of the past several days have put the ground in satisfactory shape and it is not expected that there will be any further interruption until freezing of the ground puts an end to the work.

Knutson states that up to a few days ago the ground was so dry that heretofore boggy spots could be walked on without difficulty. The fire hazard, incidentally, he says, has been very high, but thanks to a considerate public, fire losses have been negligible.

MARQUETTE—An attempt to remove the ore carrier Maryland off its sandy berth six miles east of Marquette apparently was in prospect with the arrival of the big Coast Guard cutter Mackinaw. Another cutter, the Woodrush, was reported on its way. It was considered unlikely, however, that the vessel, grounded during a sudden, severe storm Saturday morning could be pulled free. The ship is only about 150 feet from shore and it is probable that dredging operations will be necessary in floating it.

SAULT STE. MARIE—Building superintendents and maintenance engineers of public buildings today were in the old Washington school attending a one day institute, sponsored by the Michigan State College and the Sault Public School system.

MARQUETTE — Law enforcement officers have issued a warning to all U. P. residents to be on the alert for counterfeit $10 Canadian bills. State Police Detective-Sergeant Anthony F. Sprato, of the Marquette district state police headquarters, said a number of the counterfeit Canadian bills have been found in both the American and Canadian Saults.

MARINETTE — The Marinette plant of the Marinette Paper Company will stage an open house today from 10:30 a. m. as part of a ceremony to commemorate the opening of a new converting plant which will replace the company's Marinette Ludington Street unit.

IRON RIVER—A night gate to prevent unrestrained nocturnal dumping at the city garbage grounds off US-2 west has swung the wrong way and failed to click as intended. The city had installed a gate on the dumping grounds road so that night callers would be discouraged. The city wished all garbage to arrive during the day time when the municipal custodian could be supervise its placement. After the gate was installed and closed at nightfall when the custodian ended his day's task troubles and garbage piled up outside the gate.

Big Freshman Class

ANN ARBOR (AP)—What is estimated to be the largest freshman class in University of Michigan history was on the campus today—some 3,000. Last fall, 2,600 freshmen were registered for a record high in enrollment.

My Rheumatism Is Gone! I Give O-Jib-Wa Bitters FULL CREDIT

"The intense shooting pains that I suffered during the last three years made work very difficult," says Mr. Earl V. Williams, 320 W. Elm St., Reading, Michigan.

"It was my lucky day when I read about O-JIB-WA BITTERS in the paper and decided to try it. For three years I suffered from rheumatism and arthritis pains in my knees, back and arms. The intense shooting pains made work difficult and kept me awake nights. I was sure miserable. Other medicines I tried failed to help me, but from the very start, O-JIB-WA went right to work and showed me results in about a week. I have taken it for some time now and my rheumatism is gone and I can honestly say that I am better in everyway. Although I am in good shape now, I'll always keep a bottle of O-JIB-WA BITTERS handy. It is really a great medicine and I would recommend that if you suffer from rheumatism or arthritis, that you give it a fair trial, and let it help you too. I give O-JIB-WA BITTERS full credit for my recovery."

OATS TO MINNEAPOLIS—Shown is a carload of Bonham certified seed oats being shipped to Minneapolis to a seed company from the farm of Frank Barron of Flat Rock. Loading the car are Dan Barron (left) and Allen Barron, and Otto Drossert (inside the car). On the ground are Emil Christensen (left) of the Escanaba & Lake Superior Railroad, and Frank Barron. The car contains 2,147 bushels of loose oats, which the men are emptying into the car from the sacks. Most oats are shipped in sacks and this is the first carload of loose oats to be shipped on the Escanaba & Lake Superior Railroad. Approximately 15,000 acres of oats are grown by farmers in Delta County and many carloads are shipped every year. Bonham certified seed oats are a type developed at the Chatham experiment station. They are much in demand by large seed companies, according to Joseph L. Heirman, county agricultural agent. The word "Bonham" is a contraction of the word "Bond," a type of oat, and the word "Chatham." (Daily Press Photo)

Breezy Point Tavern Is Destroyed By Fire

Breezy Point Tavern on highway M-35 was totally destroyed by fire this morning. A fierce blaze lifted debris into the air. Flames reached the home of Charles Hebert, owner of the tavern, which was about 20 feet away from the tavern building. Origin of the fire is unknown.

Although firemen from Escanaba and Gladstone, who were called to the scene at 3:50 a. m. today, were able to prevent destruction of the home, the fire that started on the southwest corner of the tavern burned that building to the ground.

Neighbors who came to the scene aided in removing furnishings from the Hebert home, in fear it would be destroyed. The back end of the home was damaged by the fire.

The blaze is believed to have started in a kitchen on the corner of the tavern nearest the home. A guest of nearby Mar-Bell cottages discovered the blaze and told the operator of the cottages of the fire, who in turn informed city fire stations and Mr. and Mrs. Hebert, who were in their home.

Damage to the tavern, built about 16 years ago, was estimated at least $30,000.

Boy And Girl Are Jailed As Vagrants

A 16-year-old boy and a 17-year-old girl, found living in a car in Ensign with little food and money, are being held in county jail on a vagrancy charge preferred against them by Michigan State Police, the state police said.

The two told troopers they are from Pennsylvania. They said their car broke down, and they ran out of funds. They said they had written home for money, but have not received an answer yet.

State police are checking the story. The two have been in county jail several days.

Bridegroom Of A Week Killed

MENOMINEE—A head-on crash of two cars at 12:15 a. m. Sunday on the Belgiantown road in Stephenson Township fatally injured a young bridegroom of a week and hospitalized his bride and the two young persons in the other car.

Four men riding in a third car which struck the wrecked machines and crashed into an embankment escaped injury.

Dead:
George Lamprecht, 24, a brother of Mrs. Ernest Sheedlo, 1211 S. 13th St., and Mrs. Lawrence Willette, 1113 3rd Ave. N., Escanaba, driver of a 1948 Pontiac which was going east on the Belgiantown road toward the Belgiantown dance hall. He suffered a skull fracture and other head injury which caused his death at 4:40 a. m. Sunday in St. Joseph-Lloyd Hospital.

Injured:
Mrs. George Lamprecht, 20, the former Adeline Ducat, bride of a week, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ducat of Nathan. The Lamprechts were married Sept. 5 in the First Presbyterian Church here. She suffered contusions and abrasions. Her condition was reported good and she was the least seriously injured of the four in the accident.

Both Legs Fractured

Norman Tuinstra, 18, of Daggett driver of the 1949 DeSoto which was going west on the Belgiantown road from the dance hall, which he was leaving. He suffered a fracture of the right ankle, fracture of a toe on his left foot, lacerations of the forehead and face and concussion. His condition was reported good.

Miss Susanne Spitzer, 19, of Wallace R1, who was riding with Tuinstra, suffered fractures of both legs above the knees, a fracture of the nose, fractured finger, extensive bruises and cuts and dental injuries.

Shortly after the collision a 1949 Nash car driven by Leonard Champeau of R1 Wallace crashed into the wrecked cars and then struck an embankment. Neither Champeau nor the three men riding with him was injured, but his car was damaged. Fenders were banged in collision with the wrecked cars, but the more serious damage was done to the under-structure of the car by a large rock in the embankment.

The accident occurred a mile and a half east of US-41 on a county road in Stephenson township known as the Belgiantown road. Funeral services for George Lamprecht, a veteran of Korean wartime service in Alaska, are to be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the Diehm Funeral Home, Stephenson, with the Rev. David Buzza of Menominee officiating. There will be military rites under the

Mild Weather Will Prevail

Moderate weather will likely prevail in this area for several more days is the assurance of S. E. Decker of the local weather bureau.

Erratic weather conditions prevailing over the weekend have apparently settled and warmer temperatures are indicated for Escanaba and vicinity.

A survey of the local area indicates that in spite of chilly conditions there was practically no frost. Light frost fell on low places in the city, some in Wells and also some in the Ford River vicinity, but none of it was severe enough to cause damage.

Last night's rain of 1.16 inches did much to moderate the early night low of 51 degrees. At 7 this morning it had risen to 67 and is expected to go higher before nightfall.

The peculiar weather experienced here during the weekend prevailed generally throughout the country although in a different manner. In northern California and Oregon as well as in Texas and New Mexico, heat records for the season were broken. In sharp contrast the Carolinas had a frigid spell with Charleston, S. C. recording 56 Monday.

Charleston weather conditions, Decker states, were caused by the big blow over Lake Superior last Saturday. In this area, Milwaukee, Green Bay and Madison, also affected by the Lake Superior storm, experienced record low temperatures for this time of the year.

Decker states that a year ago Upper Michigan experienced a 10 day period of cold and disagreeable weather, but the drop in temperature was not as low. The first killing frost occurred on Oct. 3.

Hard Surfacing Of M-35 Will Divert Much Of US-41 Traffic

WHEN the road project now under way on M-35 south of Ford River is completed, all of the Lake Shore route between Escanaba and Menominee will be concrete except for 16 miles. The remaining stretch will be paved as rapidly as funds can be allocated to the project, according to the Michigan Highway Department.

The Lake Shore route between Menominee and Escanaba is one of the most attractive scenic drives in the north. When the highway is completely paved, it will divert a large percentage of the traffic that is now routed on US-41 between Menominee and Escanaba. The US-41 route is about 10 miles longer than the M-35 route and it lacks the scenic beauty of the Lake Shore route.

An Authentic Hero

MAJ.-GEN William F. Dean, former commander of the U. S. 24th division, takes his place now among the authentic heroes of American military history.

He was the kind of personal leader who gives most heart to his fighting men. On July 21, 1950, less than a month after the Korean war began, he attacked a North Korean tank with a hand grenade. Later, GI's saw him tending American wounded. He was not seen again. He was cut off by Red elements battering Taejon.

Afterward it was learned he eluded capture for 33 days, escaping encirclement no less than five times. During this time he was wounded and ill, and he went without food for 20 days. Finally he was betrayed to a Red patrol by two Koreans, but even then he fought until tackled from behind by one of the Koreans.

It was a happy moment for the American people when this brave man, his face coated with dust, jumped down from a Communist jeep a few days ago and strode back to freedom. Let us hope he can be made to understand our gratitude.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

No, dear reader, those first two words "eniac" and "edvac" are not the names of 3-D creatures from outer space, nor does this new "oracle" mean the all-wise soothsayer of antiquity. These words are the designations for three stages in the development of science's newest wonder machine, the electronic mechanical brain—and there's a story behind each of them.

Back in the early 1940's, a group of scientists, working at the School of Electrical Engineering of the University of Pennsylvania, announced that they had developed a "brain" with the ability to solve mathematical problems 100,000 times faster than the best human mind. They named the device ENIAC from the first letters of the phrase "electronic numerical integrator and computer." Rather sagely they pointed out that the miracle machine could handle only mathematical problems and was unable to cope with more complex human problems like "How are chances for maintaining world peace?" or "Will the little woman mind my playing poker with the boys tonight—especially if I win?"

Shortly after World War II, the same scientists were back in the news again with EDVAC, which, they said, made their previous Frankenstein monster a pulling babe by contrast. Edvac worked a million times faster than the human mind and had extraordinary powers of memory, being able to memorize a thousand ten-digit figures at a time. And its name, like that of its predecessor was an acronym (a word made up of the first letter or letters of a phrase or title) of the phrase "electronic discrete variable computer."

And now the newest and most advanced "brain" is announced — ORACLE from "Oak Ridge automatic computer, logical engine." This latest number—if you will forgive the expression—does everything its predecessors could accomplish, only more so. It multiplies twelve-digit numbers 2,000 times a second. It can accomplish in twenty minutes what two humans, using desk-size calculators, would need six years to figure out. As for me, the brain reels.

The Doctor Says . . . Sinus Condition, Treated Properly, Will Probably Not Be Dangerous

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. — Written for NEA Service

Today's first question deals with a most interesting but fairly unusual condition. Q—My husband has just found out he has carotid sinus syncope. Is this serious?

Mrs. R. A.

A—There is a point in the neck where there is a slight bulging known as the carotid sinus, and there are some nerves in this bulge. Sometimes they become overactive and cause a condition known as carotid sinus syncope. This may be shown by attacks of dizziness, fainting and sometimes even convulsions, which is associated with a fall in blood pressure and slowing of the heart rate.

Attacks sometimes come following an emotional upset, or without any apparent cause, but they can be brought about by pressing over this carotid sinus. Careful drug treatment is sometimes enough to bring relief, but in severe cases surgery may be desirable. It is probably not dangerous if proper treatment is instituted, and by avoiding pressure over the carotid sinus, particularly in elderly persons.

Q—Is it wise to take medicinal iodine as a deterrent to colds?

F. C.

A—So far as I know, there is not the slightest scientific evidence that medicinal iodine deters or prevents colds.

Q—What effect, if any, does alcohol have on the blood pressure?

A—It probably has none at all, though it is conceivable that in a tense person it might cause general relaxation with some temporary drop in blood pressure.

Q—Will you please say something about the disease called actinomycosis? My brother has been treated for this for two years but still coughs badly.

Miss H.

A—This is a fungus disease which is fortunately rather rare in human beings. It is difficult to treat successfully, particularly in certain forms of the disease, although recently there has been a favorable report on the use of one of the antibiotics, aureomycin, in several patients.

Q—Can someone who has had her fallopian tubes removed have any children?

Mrs. J.

A—No.

Q—I have a 9-year-old daughter who seems to have pus in her urine. Is there anything I should do about this besides keeping her warmly dressed, and do you think she will outgrow it?

Mrs. M.

A—The presence of pus in the urine means that there is some infection in the urinary tract, from the kidneys on down. This should never be treated by dressing warmly alone, and the cause must always be sought out. It is not something that will be just "outgrown." Your daughter should be thoroughly studied to find where the infection is so that it can be properly and promptly treated.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The President turned on all the famous Eisenhower charm for a full thirty minutes trying to persuade Martin Durkin to remain in the cabinet. But the man who became famous as a result of the wise crack, "eight millionaires and a plumber," stood pat.

"I am schooled in the trade-union philosophy that when you make an agreement you live up to it," declared Durkin.

"You are asking me not to resign, Mr. President, but my answer must depend on whether you are willing to go along on the nineteen points that were once agreed to," the secretary of labor continued.

When Eisenhower replied that he would not go along in approving all nineteen amendments, Durkin concluded:

"Since your answer is 'No,' Mr. President, I am sorry to say that that's my answer also."

When Herbert Brownell, Eisenhower's chief political adviser and attorney general, selected Durkin for the cabinet, he hoped to split the American Federation of Labor off from the CIO completely, force a sizable chunk of the trade-union management back into the GOP.

DURKIN'S IMPASSE

However, Durkin, a permanent union payroller, was little impressed by the way he was carefully excluded from most of Eisenhower's top policy decisions, and he made few efforts therefore to sell the Eisenhower administration to the ranks of labor.

About three months ago, just before Senator Taft's ailment took its fatal turn, the President invited Durkin to the White House and asked him what was troubling him. Durkin told the President that union leaders were insisting that the President fulfill his pledge to amend the Taft-Hartley act. Eisenhower then agreed. This was when White House counsel Bernard Shanley began working on the 19 amendments to Taft-Hartley which Durkin referred to in his last talk with Eisenhower.

The plan that emerged was laid on the President's desk the week before Senator Taft's death. Eisenhower gave the draft his approval, prepared to send it to Congress. It was even printed in final form and circulated to top leaders in Congress. But at this point the complete text of the Taft-Hartley message was leaked by an administration leader to the Wall Street Journal. Durkin considered the leak deliberate and calculated to bring a storm of pressure from big business. It did. Old business friends of Eisenhower's accused him of kowtowing to labor.

Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, a savage foe of the unions, vigorously protested. Vice President Nixon came whizzing down from Capitol Hill. He told the President the White House action on Taft-Hartley so soon after Taft's death would be an affront to Taft's memory, would anger Taft's friends, and that no changes in the Taft-Hartley law would be approved.

Businessmen who had supported Eisenhower in the last campaign protested direct to GOP national chairman Len Hall. Finally Eisenhower retreated.

Meanwhile, August dragged on and September's annual convention of the American Federation of Labor approached. Durkin, who was a delegate to the convention, knew he would have to face his old labor colleagues. He was warned by top A. F. of L. leaders that he might face the possibility of being booed by his own union brothers. Finally the labor secretary resigned.

FDR, JR. FOR GOVERNOR

While Democrats in Chicago are working to pull the party together, Democrats in New York are on the verge of pulling the party wide apart—in a situation which later might influence the presidency of the United States. They are balloting in a bitter primary to pick the Democratic candidate for mayor of New York.

Mayor Vincent Impellitteri and state Senator Robert Wagner, son of the late great U. S. senator by that name, go to the polls today in a battle which is much more important than a mere political tug-of-war between two men.

Two issues are involved:

1. A clean-up of the Democratic party in New York City.

2. A maneuver by Franklin Roosevelt, Jr., for the governorship of New York. If he succeeds, there might later be another Roosevelt in the White House.

What's happened in New York is that the Democratic party has gone stale. The elder New Dealers, such as boss Ed Flynn of the Bronx, have died. The conservative old dealers, led by men like Jim Farley, are out of step with the liberal wing, led by Senator Lehman, Averell Harriman, young Bob Wagner and Roosevelt.

When you throw all care to the four winds, they usually blow it right back at you.

Carelessness is why beauty spots, when used for picnic spots, cease to be beauty spots.

Once there was a tourist who said he was going to start out at five a. m. the next morning—and did.

Rock Candy Mountain Hotel War Prisoner Haven In Japan

By EDWARD R. KENNEDY

TOKYO —(NEA)—Ga-Jo-En means "Heavenly Place" in Japanese.

American GIs call it "The Big Rock Candy Mountain."

Both descriptions fit the newest hotel mecca for Korean veterans now pouring into Tokyo daily on long-awaited "R & R"—rest and rehabilitation leave.

The Ga-Jo-En is a swank modern hotel nestled on a beautifully landscaped hillside 15 minutes by cab from noisy, downtown Tokyo. With gold and mother of pearl inlaid elevators, the picturesque resort has long been a favorite of Japanese for weddings and honeymoons. Both Japanese and foreign tourists who desired to shun the bright lights and din of the Ginza has sought out its gaiety and impeccable taste.

But now it's "off limits" to everyone except American enlisted personnel and their invited guests. The most honored guest is a battle-tired Korean veteran. For him, the entire staff—both Japanese civilians and U. S. Army special service personnel—goes all out to prove the hotel's new motto: "Every GI a VIP."

One of the greatest services is that a soldier can enjoy VIP treatment for only $4 a day, including choice meals. This compares with the average $250 a week gouged out of servicemen at Japanese clip hotels which advertise as "catering to GIs on leave."

American soldiers recall the "Big Rock Candy Mountain" folk song as they sample Ga-Jo-En's treat. MPs are required to leave armbands, guns and clubs at the front door when they come to the Ga-Jo-En. They are never allowed in on official business. And there's a ban on officers unless the officer is an invited guest.

Facilities at Ga-Jo-En are such that a GI can spend his entire leave there, without leaving the grounds, and never miss a thing.

The hotel abounds with the flavor of Japanese culture. There are formal gardens and delicate floral arrangements. The basement boasts a completely stocked souvenir shop, conveniently located next to a wrapping service. Prices are controlled, so there is no overpricing.

Formerly one of Tokyo's favorite night spots for discerning people, the hotel's Rainbow Room is open nightly for dancing. Four nights a week, a floor show features top Japanese and Stateside entertainment. Three bars serve drinks from 9:30 AM until 11:30 PM and the most costly is 30 cents.

Three dining rooms serve breakfast for 15 cents, lunch for 35 and dinner for half a dollar. The lunch and dinner menus offer a choice of three salads, three soups, four entrees, five vegetables and three desserts. Thick steaks are on the menu at least twice a week, but are always available for a la carte order.

A renowned chef and the hotel's pre-Army staff have maintained Ga-Jo-En's reputation for excellent cuisine, but the food itself is drawn as field rations from the Quartermaster Corps.

The large, newly decorated rooms are $3 per day. Since most GIs travel in pairs, the majority of the rooms are doubles. But if a group of four or five from one outfit want to be together, a suite is made available at no extra charge.

tra charge.

Each room has a telephone and many of the soldiers call home. Buses run to downtown Tokyo hourly and tours of the city can be arranged from the lobby—free, of course.

Since practically everyone in Japan carries a camera most of the time, the hotel has a 24-hour photo developing and printing service which processes an average of 300 rolls of film per day. It's not considered unusual when a GI hands in 100 rolls at once—the collection from his entire Korean outfit.

Although the hotel caters to "R & R" personnel, its party rooms and banquet facilities are available

Solar Experts Tell Of Idea To Extend Crop-Growing Time

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Scientists are planning to explore the possibilities of chemically speeding springtime and delaying winter—as far as crops are concerned.

This was made known Sunday at a conference of some of the world's outstanding experts on solar energy already available to agriculture—and also to tap a virtually wasted bounty of solar radiation as a means of supplying useful heat and power for homes and industry.

Lady's Flowerbed Emerges Triumphant After Road Threat

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Twenty years ago, Mrs. H. O. Crumpler said, she wanted to plant a garden and the city-owned plot next to her house looked like a good spot. "Go ahead," the city officials told her. The city had chartered Evergreen Street to run through the plot, "but that street never will be opened in your lifetime."

So Mrs. Crumpler hauled in rocks, fertilizer, peat moss and started planting flowers. Soon the flower garden became a neighborhood showplace. Then came a notice from the city public works department that Evergreen street would be opened. Mrs. Crumpler would have to move that part of her garden which came within limits of the proposed street, the notice said.

At the next city council meeting she told her story and then gave all the councilmen some flowers from her garden. The councilmen tossed the problem to the Public Works Department. On a second look, the Public Works department found that Champion Street—another non-existent street on the other side of Mrs. Crumpler's flower bed—would serve the city's purposes just as well as Evergreen Street.

Mayor Helps Start Summertime Club

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Mayor Stanley I. Dale, strolling through a park, was stopped by a spokesman for an elderly group. The oldtimers used the park for a summertime clubroom, the man explained, and would the mayor please provide a table for playing cards? The mayor did.

Strolling again a few days later, his honor was stopped once more. Would he provide some cards? The mayor did.

The idea of the chemical "crop season extension" would be (1) to hasten the opening of planting season a couple of weeks by spreading chemicals on the snow or frost-free ground to promote melting, and (2) chemically treating the ground during growing season so as to absorb enough solar heat to delay Jack Frost's attacks for another couple of weeks at season's end.

But scientists told reporters at a news conference in connection with the meeting that, while the objective is one justifying intensive research, the problem will be to find chemicals that would trap the sun's energy—and release it under controllable conditions.

One scientist said the Russians claim to have achieved good success in speeding springtime in the Soviet by spreading coal dust on the snow to trap rays of the sun.

Australians Develop Shrinkproof Wool

NEW YORK (AP)—Shrink-proof wool has been developed by an Australian research group, the Australian Information Service here says. At least one license to a woolen mill has been granted. The process will be developed in other commercial plants, the announcement says.

The new process treats the wool with a resin, but the Australians say that it does not change the normal qualities of the wool.

Thought It A Strange Way To Get A Loan

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Servicemen are regular blood donors at the Huntington Regional Blood Center. So nothing more was thought when a member of the armed services entered the center.

Without asking unnecessary questions, Red Cross operators took the serviceman's name, temperature, pulse, medical history and other information.

Just before being taken into the blood donating room, the bewildered serviceman asked, "Does a guy have to go through all this just to get a Red Cross loan?"

Don't Wear Girdles At Amusement Parks, Says Weight Guesser

NEW YORK (AP)—If Hy Malik had his way, women would not be allowed to wear corsets or girdles to amusement parks. Hy explains that these garments are an obstacle to his chosen profession—weight guessing at a New Jersey Amusement Park (Palisades).

Hy has been guessing the weight of people for almost two decades. "You can't tell what is behind those corsets when a woman steps on a scale," Malik declared.

Malik said that "on a good day" he can guess men's weights correctly almost 70 per cent of the time. On the other hand, if he can break 50 per cent with the women, he considers himself lucky. If Malik doesn't guess a person's weight within three pounds, the individual wins a prize.

Hy says that he is always running into people who are eager to outwit him. "One day at Palisades Amusement Park," Hy recalled, "a young man got on the scale with about 10 pounds of rocks under his coat. On another occasion, a man had a sash weight strapped around his waist."

Malik says that people on the average are fatter today than they were when he started out in business.

Family Has Zillions Of College Degrees

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP)—The family of Attorney Fletcher W. Mann collects college degrees with abandon.

Recently, son Jack, who holds a B. A. and LL.B. from West Virginia University, hung out his law shingle with his father who also has a B. A. and LL.B. Mom, an elementary school teacher, has a B. A.

One daughter, Mrs. Edward Neil of Detroit who formerly was an instructor at Michigan State, has B. A. and M. A. degrees. And daughter Mavis—the most degreed of all—holds B. A., M. A., and Ph. D. degrees. She is an assistant professor of political science at West Virginia.

Bath Lasts Longer Than He Bargained

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—What began as just another bath stretched into a 48-hour soaking for a 77-year-old Hutchinson man. S. E. Drummond climbed into the tub at his home, where he lived alone. Then he became too weak to get out.

Two days later, neighbors, worried because they hadn't seen him, called police. Officers entered the home and helped Drummond from the tub. Drummond suffered no ill effects from his ordeal, but he admitted he did get "sort of hungry."

"I guess I drank gallons and gallons of water," he said.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

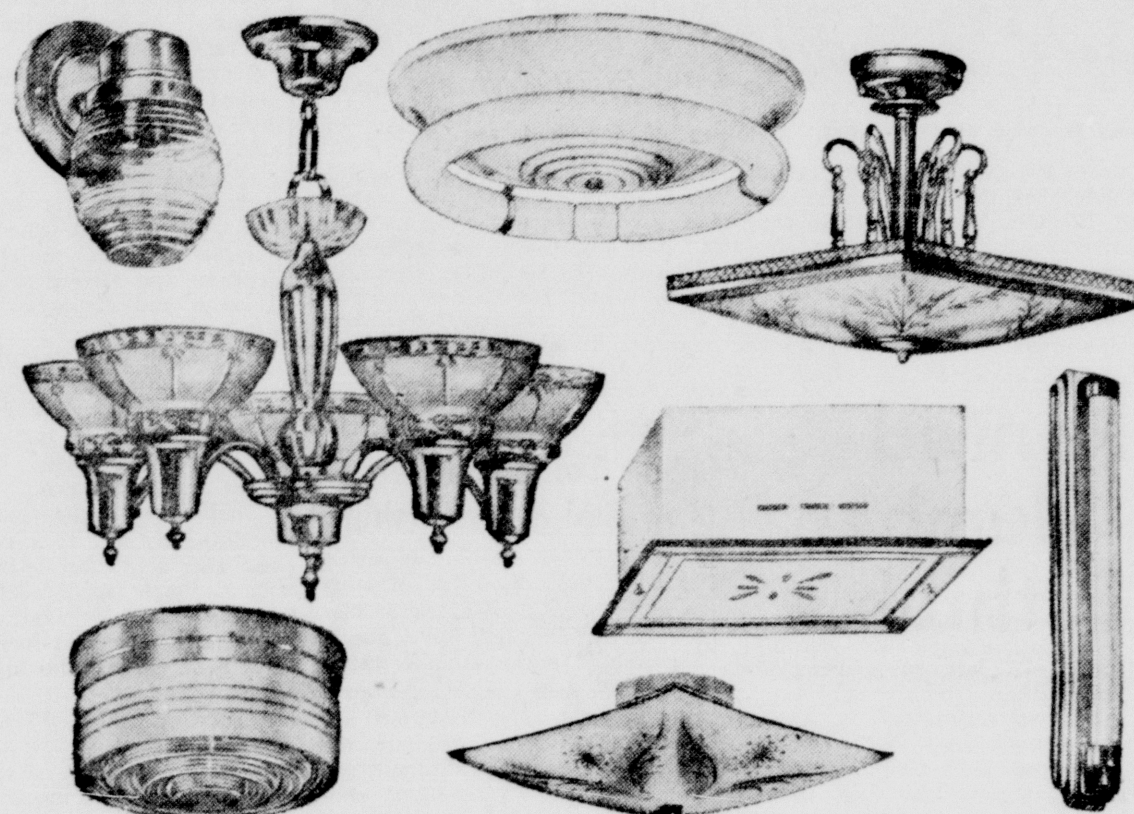

One of the most difficult jobs of housekeeping is to keep linoleum and asphalt tile floors waxed and gleaming. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it is no longer necessary to wax and scrub. All you do is apply Glaxo with a brush about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor. Glaxo is available at the Fair Store.

MHSAA Case To Be Heard In Lansing

HASTINGS (Special) — The Michigan High School Athletic Association case involving the ineligibility of six Hastings High School students and three Upper Peninsula students because of merchandise awards will be heard before the joint legislative committee of the House and Senate in Lansing at 10 tomorrow morning.

The hearing will be held in the judiciary committee room of the Senate in the state capitol building. It is being held in response to a petition by Hastings citizens asking for reconsideration of the ineligibility case.

At a special meeting of executive committee of the MHSAA in Lansing August 20, the ineligibility of the boys for one year was confirmed. Alleged infractions previously had been reported by respective school authorities to Charles E. Forsythe, director of the MHSAA.

"The Senate and House legislative committee has the power to set aside the Michigan High School Athletic Association rule covering this case," Attorney George Dean, of Hastings, representing the Hastings students, said this morning.

"The boys certainly have a right to appeal. We will show that the rule is harsh and arbitrary and should be set aside by this legislative committee and that the boys' eligibility should be restored."

Dean told an Escanaba Daily Press reporter this morning that he would appear before the committee with the six Hastings students. It is likely that Escanaba also will be well represented at the hearing.

Son Of Gen. Van Fleet Not Accounted For As Prisoner In Korea

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. James A. Van Fleet, former troop commander in Korea, said today the Communists have not accounted for 3,000 or more prisoners — including his son.

The general's son, Capt. James A. Jr., has been listed among American servicemen believed held secretly by the Communists.

"Mrs. Van Fleet and I naturally entertain great hopes that he might be reported and released," Gen. Van Fleet, former 8th Army commander, said on his arrival from Europe.

"I believe there are easily 3,000 U. N. prisoners who have not been accounted for and whom the Communists should know about — dead or alive — and the Communists should be held by the U. N. for strict accounting."

Va Fleet returned on the Cunard liner Queen Elizabeth after a nine-day inspection tour in Korea for the American-Korean foundation.

Slums are on their way out in Puerto Rico, as the Commonwealth sets an example with municipally owned housing. Fifty families from the blighted areas of San Juan have already moved into the huge, ultra-modern, low-cost Liorens Torres housing project. They are the first of more than 10,000 low-income persons who will shortly occupy the 80-acre, 2640-apartment development. Each unit has a living room, kitchen, bathroom and one to four bedrooms. Rents range from $120 a month, with the average around $9 per unit. Applicants are screened by public housing officials and tenants are selected on the basis of income and need. Play areas, shopping facilities, schools, churches, a nursery and transportation plan have been included in the housing project.

Submarine Rented By Chicago Plumber To Deliver Bathtub

CHICAGO (AP) — A plumber has rented a submarine to take 50 guests on a Lake Michigan cruise with him while he delivers a bathtub and other plumbing fixtures.

Edward M. Moran, a plumber who has branched out into selling plumbers' supplies, made the rental Monday so he could throw a party—"a real party, that is, something that has never been done before."

His advertisement in Chicago newspapers said that "owner of submarine must furnish pilot, cook and bartender. The latter must be able to prepare delicious roast beef dinner and mix finest of drinks."

Moran also specified that the submarine must be large enough to admit a bathtub, some pipe, valves and fittings.

"I've got to deliver the bathtub, pipe and other supplies at St. Joseph and Benton Harbor, Mich., and I thought we could make it a combined pleasure and business trip across Lake Michigan," Moran said.

Moran said he found his submarine, the property of the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., Kearney, N. J., which will deliver it some day within the next three weeks.

Trout In Hatcheries Will Be Put To Sleep For Planting Trips

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Conservation Department plans to experiment with a method of putting hatchery trout to sleep so more of them can be transported to planting sites.

Workers at the Wolf Lake hatchery are awaiting a shipment of sodium amylal which will be mixed with the water in tank trucks used to carry the fish from hatcheries to streams and lakes.

The chemical will put the trout to sleep. When they are fully awake, they thrash around in the water so much, they can't be packed in too tightly.

The drugging method has been used successfully in California. If it can be used in Michigan it will save much time and money in this state's trout planting program, department sources said.

The trout are expected to recover fully from their drugged sleep as soon as they are released in their natural habitat.

Check Made On 150 New York Teachers For Red Membership

NEW YORK (AP) — A city official investigating subversive influences in the schools says 150 teachers are being checked for suspected Communist party membership.

Saul Moskoff, assistant corporation counsel, also reported Monday that 23 other teachers have admitted past party membership and have been allowed to retain their jobs after proving they left the party in good faith.

Moskoff said another 15 are under suspension and awaiting departmental trial for refusing to answer inquiry questions and that 110 more have been dismissed or resigned or retired since the probe started, two years ago.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A three-room frame house disappeared over the weekend.

Democrats Attack Foreign Policies Of Eisenhower

sioner of agriculture, said that rains in that state had "saved the Republican relief program from being exposed to the nation as a complete failure."

"It was an outstanding example of the benevolence of God correcting the stupidity of man," he said.

White said that despite a personal visit of President Eisenhower to Amarillo for a conference with governors there on the drought situation, the administration had not provided even one bale of drought-relief hay but had attempted to push off on the farmers government surpluses of feed concentrate.

Stevenson, the party's 2nd gra

Stevenson, the party's 1952 presidential nominee, told cheering Democrats at a $100-a-plate dinner the Republican administration had made "hollow political gestures" abroad, interfered in the affairs of other nations, permitted "smears at home" and had cut defense and foreign aid while tossing "threatening words" at the Communists.

Reports On His Tour

The former Illinois governor said the announcement of defense cuts "followed by threatening words in Asia, sounded to me as though the administration was saying to the Communists: 'One false move from you guys and we'll cut the national defense by another billion dollars.'"

Stevenson, who has been invited to tell President Eisenhower later about his conversations with the top diplomats of the free nations, brings the Democratic rally to a close tonight with a televised "non-partisan" report to the nation of his recent world tour.

Truman, who previously had voiced some free-swinging criticisms of the "wrecking crew" he said was at work in Washington, applauded Stevenson's sharp attack on Eisenhower foreign policies and beamed when the 1952 nominee praised the "undaunted courage and strong will" he said Truman had displayed in foreign affairs.

Feels For President

Later the former President told this reporter the Republicans can't do anything else but follow the international policies the Democrats had laid down.

Truman said, however, that in anything he has to say about the new administration he is never going to "pick on" Eisenhower personally.

"That's because I feel for him—I've been there," the former President added.

Asserting that the Democrats in Congress had "functioned with great intelligence, courage and restraint" since the Republicans took over, Stevenson told the audience at the swank fund raising dinner:

"The greatest beneficiary of the Democratic party in these past few months has been President Eisenhower. I only hope that he realizes that."

Whoops And Hollers
But if the Democrats were somewhat reluctant to tee off on the GOP President personally, whoops and hollers from the party faithful encouraged a list of speakers to take the gloves off in criticizing Republican domestic programs.

Stevenson convulsed his audience by dubbing as "government by postponement" what he called the Eisenhower administration's resort to the naming of commissions to study all the controversial problems passed up by this year's Congress.

He said that last year's GOP campaign theme that it's time for a change "had brought only a change in the attitude of the Republicans toward legislation passed by Democratic Congresses."

"They now seem to be doing their very best to persuade the American people that they are not going to touch a single one of these advances of the past 20 years," he said.

In a more serious vein, however, he said it is the job of the Democrats to help every way they can in the "fateful decisions" he said lie ahead in momentous negotiations in Asia and Europe.

Showdown Avoided

Stevenson noted that earlier in the day the conference had avoided a showdown over the troublesome party convention "loyalty" rule by moving to have it studied by a committee appointed by National Chairman Stephen Mitchell.

Observing that intraparty conflicts are "not altogether unwholesome," Stevenson added with a grin:

"I suppose now that the hoped for misfortunes have not overtaken us in Chicago, that the Republicans will charge us with creeping harmony."

Truman was in campaign form as he told the diners that "double talk" might have won the last election for the Republicans, but he said the GOP record on national defense, housing, career service firings, farm programs, labor law revision, national resources, social security, international trade and taxes was such that the Democrats could win control of Congress next year.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.), finalist in a long line of speakers, tore into what he called the "give-away throw-away sell-away programs" of the Republicans.

Big Business Attacked

"Everywhere we find the Republicans abandoning the general interest and furthering the special interests of the already rich and powerful," he declared.

The Illinois senator complained that Eisenhower had chosen his Cabinet "almost exclusively from the ranks of big business," adding that "millionaires, high executives and corporation lawyers are now running the United States of America."

"You may have heard that there was once a poor but honest plumber in the Cabinet," Douglas said. "He is still poor. He is still honest. But he is no longer a member of the Cabinet."

"Martin Durkin would not hold onto a $25,000 job and a Cadillac if the price he had to pay was to sell labor a gold brick."

Douglas said millionaires had their places in government, but "they should be kept on tap, not on top."

Charging the Republicans with failure to protect the interests of the people, he said that "the real personal decency of President Eisenhower—and its real I might state — cannot by itself reverse these trends."

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), the 1952 vice presidential nominee, told the diners that "in the last session of Congress Democrats saved the President from his own party."

Rep. Rayburn of Texas, the House minority leader, said that "every farmer in America is unhappy today about the way the Republicans are administering the farm laws of the last two administrations than they have ever been in 20 years before."

The Democrats achieved outward harmony at their conference by a compromise postponement of any action on the so-called "loyalty" pledge issue.

This pledge, voted at last year's national convention, put delegates on their honor to do what they could to getting the national ticket on the ballot in their states under the Democratic label.

THE PEAK OF QUALITY

Disputes Flare Over Control of Committees

By CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY
WASHINGTON—(CQ)—The "under new management" signs which Congress hung on its all-important committees when it switched from Democratic to Republican leadership have failed to end the heated skirmishes over committee control.

These struggles, usually kept behind the scenes, frequently exploded into headlines in the new Congress.

In four first-session cases touched off by issues ranging from religion to the three-cent postage stamp, the authority which rules, custom and committee members themselves had delegated to chairmen was questioned over ruled or revoked.

Much vital work is done in committees. Some critics, including Members of Congress, have said the system sometimes gives one man, picked on the basis of length of service rather than ability, almost absolute control over what the law of the land will be in a given field.

Powers Vary

Authority enjoyed by chairmen varies. All have the power to call their committees into regular or special sessions, to preside, present the order of business, recognize speakers, put issues to votes, and pilot bills through committees, and play a dominant role in hiring staff members.

One of the sharpest fights of the first session, on any level, came when the force of an administration seeking revenue met the resistance of a powerful committee head, Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) of the House Ways and Means Committee. Reed stood squarely in the path of the Administration request for a six-month extension of the excess-profits tax on corporations.

Reed used most of his great positive and negative powers to bury the bill in his Committee. Only high-pressure parliamentary maneuvers whipped him. He refused to call the Committee into regular or special session until it became clear that a majority of the group would force a meeting, then finally scheduled a session for consideration of other business.

At the July 8 meeting, Reed ruled out of order a motion that EPT be taken up. The majority overruled him. Before a vote could be taken on the bill, Reed tried to adjourn the meeting. Again he was voted down. Finally, over Reed's opposition, a majority vote cleared the measure for House action. Both houses ultimately passed the extension, and President Eisenhower signed it.

A formal rule decrees that a chairman cannot report a bill without the consent of a majority of his committee. An unwritten rule provides that the majority will not report a bill without the chairman's consent. This unwritten rule was broken in the tax-extension fight.

McCarthy and Hiring Power

In another test of a chairman's authority, Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) of the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee found himself running a one-party group when all three Democratic members resigned in protest against a vote by the four GOP members giving McCarthy sole authority to hire and fire staff members.

McCarthy had claimed that authority when he overrode the majority of the subcommittee by refusing to accept the resignation of J. B. Matthews as executive director. Matthews' appointment stirred widespread criticism because of his magazine article calling the Protestant clergy "the largest single group" supporting the Communist apparatus in the U. S.

McCarthy finally accepted the resignation, but the GOP members voted to give him absolute hiring and firing power. The Democrats resigned and stayed out, despite McCarthy's invitation to return.

Rees and Postal Rates

The three-cent postage stamp was the focal point of another 1953 dispute. Chairman Edward H. Rees (R-Kan.) gave his House Post Office and Civil Service Committee three days' notice of late-session hearings on Administration proposals to raise postal rates. As the hearings opened, Rep. Harold C. Hagen (R-Minn.) called them a "rush act." He demanded an immediate closed-door session to determine whether hearings should proceed.

Rees refused to recognize Hagen's demand, and the hearing continued amid protests. Later, the Committee supported Rees by voting to continue the hearings. Hagen charged that the sessions had been set up in "perhaps the shortest time in the history of major postal rate legislation." The bill did not get out of committee.

Hoffman and Probers

A case of revoked authority occurred in the House Government Operations where members voted to strip Chairman Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich.) of several powers.

After Hoffman had asked his regular subcommittees to "curtail" their activities, the members voted 23-1 to revoke his power to create special subcommittees without Committee approval. They also abolished the special units already set up and took away Hoffman's authority to make jurisdictional changes in the regular subcommittees.

On the heels of the first Committee action, the House July 29 voted to relieve Hoffman of most of his control over Committee money by authorizing regular subcommittee chairmen to sign vouchers for payment of "committee" expenses. The GOP 80th Congress had also relieved Hoffman of voucher authority.

"Perhaps I am penurious, it might be said, or count dollars too closely . . . a policy not in effect here in Washington," Hoffman commented.

France Rejects Man Without A Country, Michael P. O'Brien

MARSEILLE, France (AP)—France added her name today to the list of countries that don't want Michael Patrick O'Brien, the ex-Shanghai bartender who set a record for shuttling on a China Sea ferryboat as a man without a country.

O'Brien arrived here today aboard the French liner Bretagne and French authorities wouldn't let him ashore. They told him to say on the vessel and try Genoa, Italy, the next port of call.

The United States has rejected O'Brien's claim to American citizenship. O'Brien spent 11 months shuttling between British Hong Kong and Portuguese Macau, unable to debark because neither place wanted him.

Finally there was hope when he got a Brazilian visa, flew to Europe and boarded the Bretagne bound for Rio De Janeiro. But the Brazilian authorities changed their minds and said he wasn't wanted. It was the same story in Montevideo, Uruguay.

Next stop: Genoa. But for how long remains to be seen.

When The Quints Were Babies: 5

They Loved To Act Out
The Old Nursery Rhymes

LIKE ALL little girls, the Dionne quintuplets loved to dress up and act out nursery rhymes. That's the way to have fun on a rainy day when you can't play outside, and the quintuplets had an advantage—there was a permanent cast of five. On afternoon, for instance, they dressed Yvonne in a crown and robes and made a paper pie. Then, with Marie, Annette, Emilie and Cecile grouped around the "king" (left photo), they pulled blackbirds out of the pie as they acted out "Sing a Song of Sixpence."

But the quintuplets didn't need any script to make a merry show. Among their pictures just about the time they were three, you'll find the happy scene at right as they show how little girls feel about baskets of pretty May flowers.

American Boys Defied Captors And Found God In Prison Camps

By FRED SPARKS

INCHON, Korea—(NEA)—They tried to deny God to our young men in Communist prison camps, but they didn't succeed.

In secret meetings recalling early Christians in Roman caves, American soldiers in Red custody displayed their faith with none of the comforts offered the occasional Sunday church-goer back home.

In an ugly Chinese compound at Pyoktong one Sunday, a group gathered to sing "Onward Christian Soldiers."

A Communist guard approached fingering his pistol, and as Warrant Officer Dwight Cox of Fresno, Calif., remembers it now: "I never saw a man so furious in my life. I thought sure he would shoot us. He screamed at us like a hysterical animal."

Later, in a strange form of defiance, the men gathered again in a lone part of the camp and held a service without audible words, looking at each other with moving lips as they read from tattered Army Bibles hidden during their capture.

As Americans released from Communist cells pour into this port city after hasty greetings at Panmunjom and Munsan, they tell endless tales of religious conviction made stronger by denial. Cox told of two chaplains, one Catholic, one Protestant, who suffered countless privations to try again and again to hold proper services. The Reds accused them of being agitators and propagandists. Both chaplains, under 35 and strapping physical specimens, died under strange circumstances.

After the chaplains died, GIs with no formal training presided over clandestine gatherings while friends kept watch for English-speaking guards.

Men would stand around on Sunday mornings as if they were having a bull session and sing in a sort of whispered mumble:

"Holy, Holy, Holy,
"Lord, God Almighty,
"Early in the morning
"Our soul shall rise to thee."

It wasn't until after the truce talks began that the Communists stopped trying to block religious demonstrations. They gave the prisoners no material aid, but allowed them to gather on holidays for prayer.

Among the lay preachers who arose in this strange situation was Sgt. James Davis of Mullins, S. C., who will be known for all time as "Brother Jim." He came back to the American lines on a stretcher, a sick youth, but until his collapse he not only presided at services but also would be called from bed at all hours to visit the ill and depressed.

Brother Jim had a magnificent way of praying with stricken men, giving them something to hold on to. After weeks of pleading, he was allowed to go outside the barbed wire to say a few words at the shallow graves of the too many young men who succumbed to diseases they could not battle on the meager prison diet.

A slight, medium-sized man, Brother Jim would preach quiet sermons to comrades of all denominations while an English-speaking Chinese guard stood by with a fat notebook.

It was not a polished text Brother Jim spoke, but he always plugged the line of hope. He talked one day in an open field in sub-zero weather about the resurrection of the Lord and how the hungry, shabby Americans could come back to a new and greater world.

It must have been a sight to see them—Brother Jim standing on a mound of frozen dirt while his friends huddled together in thin their only protection against the snow.

Over Brother Jim's head, silhouetted against the cold sky, was not a cross but a tower with the warning snout of a machine gun trained on the congregation.

At Inchon, I saw returnees awkward in fresh uniforms and tan oxford shoes shuffle into the day room past a jazzing radio for their reg-

Potato Chip Girl Loses Diamond Ring

DES MOINES (AP)—Betty Bingham, 21, didn't have to pay for a want ad when she lost a diamond ring worth $100.

The Des Moines Tribune ran a page one story about it. Betty had lost the ring on her first day in a new job in a potato chip factory. She was pouring chips onto a conveyor when she lost the ring. The conveyor led to the packaging unit.

The paper said that if any potato chip buyer found a diamond ring in the bag he was not to consider it a prize. The ring is Betty's.

With a deep fullness never heard in a church back home, the returnees sang the words: "How sweet the sound that saved a wretch like me."

Then the service was over, and the boys who knew they were really back gathered around the chaplain.

"The Lord really brought us through," Sgt. Dunlap said, softly.

English Teacher Joins MHS Faculty

Mrs. James Craig of Seul Choix Point, a 1952 graduate of Illinois Northern State Teachers College, has been engaged to teach sophomore English in Manistique High School, Supt. A. F. Hall reports.

Mrs. Craig replaces Edward Lerding, a University of Kentucky graduate under contract to come here this year. Lerding has been injured in an auto accident, the superintendent has been informed.

The Manistique School system, which this year has an enrollment of 1133, has a faculty of 42, two less than last year. Two teachers were eliminated by re-assignment of courses, Supt. Hall explained. Because of a decrease in enrollment, one teacher has been eliminated in the primary grades and one in the high school.

A new course, home economics for 7th and 8th graders, has been added in Manistique Junior High School this year. The class is taught by Mrs. Harry Hollenbeck, a graduate of Michigan State College.

Primary Interest Money Distributed

Primary interest fund checks totaling $48,366.63 have been mailed to treasurers in Schoolcraft township and the City of Manistique, Miss Laura Williams, county treasurer, reports.

This is the first payment from the state primary interest fund and a smaller disbursement will be made in November, the treasurer reports.

Payments this year, computed on a 1952 school census of 2,613 children for Schoolcraft County, were about the same as last year. The per capita rate this year is $18.51 per census child.

Checks for each of the townships and the city of Manistique were as follows:

Doyle—$3,294.78; Germfask — $3,979.65; Hiawatha — $3,017.13; Inwood — $3,831.57; Manistique— $3,424.35; Mueller — $2,091.63; Seney — $1,628.88; Thompson — $1,073.58; Manistique, city—$26,025.06.

MANISTIQUE

Police Radios Again Proposed

The possibility of equipping Manistique city police cars with radio was again brought before the City Council at its regular meeting Monday night.

The Council was asked to reconsider the advisability of using radio in police cars by Dr. James Fyvie, who noted that "he has become convinced" it is the solution to many traffic problems.

He observed that he formerly had agreed with the Council in cancelling orders for radio equipment, but said that he believes police could move about faster with use of radio hook-up.

Michigan State Police of the Manistique Post have agreed to cooperate with city police if radios were to be installed, Dr. Fyvie pointed out.

The Council, with only three members present, tabled the matter until the next meeting. Councilmen Walter Burns and A. W. Heitman were absent last night.

The Council last night also discussed telephone service in Manistique and noted that "if anything, it was worse." Mayor Vernon Linderoth pointed out that the matter should "by no means be dropped" and urged that the Council proceed with its original plan to contact the Public Service Commission, after first conferring with the General Telephone Company. Other councilmen agreed and noted that the city was not getting the service it was paying for.

Orson Livermore, acting city manager, reported that the Francis Engineering company's estimate of costs of repairing the dam on Indian River was $4,250, and pointed out that he did not think the work needed to be done immediately. He predicted the dam would be serviceable for two more years without repairs.

The council last night rejected a proposal for an aerial survey of the city and referred a contract for advertising in the U. P. Development Bureau's Lure Book to the city treasurer. Councilmen instructed the assistant manager to obtain more information on other cities' regulations governing grave-site markers, after accepting a communication, from A. J. Cayia of the Inland Lime and Stone Company, requesting that the city adopt regulations.

Councilmen also considered water and sewer improvements on Deer Street, from 5th to 7th St., and tabled the matter until property owners submit a petition for the improvements. The city manager reported cost of water mains would be about $1.80 per front foot, and indicated the city has nearly enough supplies on hand for the water main improvement.

He said cost of the mains would be $2,372.50 and of the sewers, $1,704. In other business last night the Council authorized the city manager to go to Iron River to observe operation of black-top road equipment; instructed the assistant city manager, William Moreau, to obtain cost figures from Mrs. Elmer Boals on feeding of city prisoners; and moved, subject to approval by the manager, that a stop sign be placed on Arbutus Ave., to slow down high speed traffic in the area.

Emeralds Seek First Conference Win Here Friday

A number of offensive changes will be made in the lineup of the Manistique Emeralds when they clash here Friday night with the Gladstone Braves, Coach Richard Bonifas said today.

The Emeralds, the coach reports, may be without the help of Gerald Walstrom, left tackle who was injured in the game with Newberry last Friday. Walstrom has a "badly bruised" thigh muscle, suffered in the second quarter of the game, the coach reports.

Both Coach Don Plotenbauer's Gladstone Braves and the Emeralds, who this year won over Stephenson and lost to Newberry, will be seeking their first conference win Friday.

The Manistique Emeralds last year were the Great Lakes Conference champions, chalking up six conference wins and only one loss.

Officials for the games Friday, which begins at 8:30 p. m., EST, will be St. Germain of Marquette, Watson of Ishpeming and Soli of Marquette.

The Manistique reserve team, coached by Robert Ebli, play Coach Eldon Keil's reserves at Gladstone in a game beginning at 3:30 p. m., Friday.

Dozen U.P. Grid Teams Remain Undeleted

Iron River Has Three Straight

With the Upper Peninsula prep football season entering the fourth lap this weekend, a dozen teams remain in the undefeated, untied list.

Iron River leads the Class B parade with three straight wins in the Peninsula. Ontonagon, in Class C, also has three in a row.

Coach Harry Monson's Redskins stepped on Norway, 27-0, Saturday afternoon for their third. They had previously topped Bessemer and Calumet. Ontonagon had a tougher time winning its third, barely edging Wakefield 7-6.

Menominee, Ironwood and Iron Mountain threw their weight into the U. P. grid picture over the past weekend. The Maroons, defending champions, trounced Kingsford and new coach Rae Drake 57-7. Iron Mountain opened the season with an 18-0 margin over Stephenson. And highly regarded Ironwood traveled to Duluth to pin a 25-2 loss on Denfeld.

Sault Ste. Marie's Blue Devils made it two in a row the previous weekend and were idle last week. Hancock won its second straight by trimming L'Anse 25-6 and Stambaugh blanked St. Joseph 26-0 for its second victory.

Other unbeaten elevens are Newberry and Lake Linden. Ishpeming and Negaunee, their openers canceled by polio, also have yet to taste defeat.

Hope And Hillsdale Are Title Contenders

(By The Associated Press)
Hope has hope and Hillsdale has Charley Bachman for the coming football season. This could make them contenders for the MIAA title.

Last season Hope had a 4-1 record and finished second in the MIAA race behind Albion. Coach Al Vanderbush has 16 lettermen back and hopes to take the championship this time.

State Team In Baseball Finals

BATTLE CREEK, Mich.—A battle between two Michigan squads, the only ones still undefeated in the eastern playoff of the American Baseball Congress tournament, topped today's ABC schedule.

Kalamazoo, which won the competition three years from 1949 to 1951, takes on host Battle Creek in an arc-light game.

The former champs kept their record clear in the third round Monday by beating Birmingham, Ala., 3-1, and Battle Creek trampled San German, Cuba, 17-5. It was the first defeat for Birmingham and San German.

Defending champion New York removed Lakewood, Ohio, from the double-elimination tourney with a 5-2 triumph. Also eliminated Monday were Chattanooga, Tenn., which was edged 3-2 by Jellico, Tenn., and Genoa, Ill., which lost a 10-inning game to Ashland, Ky.

Comeback Try Fails, Davey Loses Decision

BY JOE FALLS
SAGINAW, Mich.—Al Andrews, a nobody from Superior, Wis., may have ended the fistic career of Chuck Davey, the nation's television darling of only seven months ago.

Andrews, a busy bee but with little sting, buzzed to unanimous 10-round decision Monday night over Davey, who looked for all the world like a fighter going nowhere fast.

The surprising result even overshadowed the amazing turnout of 11,089 fans, who poured $42,066.50 into the till.

Second Pro Loss
It was only Davey's second loss as a pro—but it could have been the one to convince him that boxing isn't his business.

When welterweight champion Kid Gavilan trounced him last February, the consensus was that the 29-year-old southpaw from East Lansing, Mich., was in over his head. Davey was supposed to use newcomer Andrews as another stepping stone back into the welterweight title picture. But the 23-year-old Andrews, 152, handed Davey, 147, with ease. "I knew I had him as early as the first round," he said.

Takes Eight-Count
Davey bounced around like he always does but Andrews bounced the leather off Davey's chin. He caught Davey in the second round and floored him for a mandatory eight-count.

Referee Clarence Rosen gave Andrews 52 points and Davey 48. Judge Harold Otto had it 53-47 for Andrews and Judge Ed Haley, saw it 58-42.

Andrews said he knew Davey's style from boxing some 60 rounds with him when he trained for bouts with Rocky Graziano and Gavilan. Davey didn't go away poor. His share of the purse was a juicy $9,685.25. Andrews picked up $4,035.54.

In the future it probably will be the other way around. Andrews looks like a corner while Davey looks like a "gonner."

last season with a 1-4 record but the Dales will have a new look this year. They'll be getting their football lessons from one of the most astute tacticians of the game, 60-year-old Charlie Bachman.

Bachman, who served as head coach at Michigan State for 16 years resigning in 1946, came out of retirement because "I still have football in my blood."

Has Experience
Hillsdale figures to benefit by Bachman's vast experience which includes coaching jobs at Northwestern, Kansas State and Florida.

Bachman is taking over a team which hasn't had a winning season since 1949 but the Dales' squad looks to be one of the best in the history of the school.

It has size and depth and Bachman figures to make the most of his 10 lettermen and some 40 freshmen.

"We'll pattern our offenses around the flying Z formation," said Bachman. "That's the one we used in the last few years at Michigan State."

Has Fleet Backs
Meanwhile at Hope, Coach Vanderbush is molding a team of fleet-footed backs. A freshman quarterback Harry Voss may take the position away from Don York and Bob Hoeksema.

The rest of the backfield should be composed of regulars Dave Kempke, and Johnny Adams and Frank Talarice who has moved up from the second string.

Hope College opens its season in Holland Saturday night, meeting Michigan State Normal. Hillsdale open Friday night at Manchester, Ind.

Trojans Will Play At Bark River On Sunday

The lone high school football action in the Escanaba area this weekend will send Coach Tom St. Germain's St. Joe Trojans to Bark River for a Sunday afternoon clash with Coach Tom Janssen's Broncos.

The opening kickoff will be at 2 and the game is expected to draw a large crowd at the Bark River gridiron.

Escanaba High School is idle this weekend and the Gladstone Braves are on the road. Coach Don Pfotenauer's gridders invade Manistique.

Heavy losses by injuries have hampered workouts at Bark River. Janssen has worked three new linemen into the picture and they

Michigan Uses Forward Pass

By JOHN F. MAYHEW

ANN ARBOR—The forward pass, a blunted varsity weapon during Saturday's scrimmage, was coming in for lots of attention on the Michigan football field this week.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan's regulars did some passing against the reserves in the big game-type scrimmage, but it was a wobbly, ineffectual thing and a source of concern to the Michigan coach.

Monday, the aerials were flying all over the place. Louis Baldacci and Ted Kress, Michigan's top passers, did most of the throwing.

Baldacci, Oosterbaan's sophomore quarterback who had some trouble with his timing Saturday, appeared in better form, as did Kress, who is also Michigan's star running halfback.

Both got off long and short tosses by the dozen, with a flock of ends doing the receiving. Gene Knutson, making the adjustment of adding offensive play to his 1952 role, came through with several good catches.

Rio Grande Slates Rough Cage Foes

RIO GRANDE, Ohio—Rio Grande College, the tiny school with the tremendous basketball team, has announced a 25-game basketball schedule for 1953-54 and Coach Newt Oliver says:

"We may not set any records this year, and we may get our share of losses, but at least it'll keep the wolves off our backs."

Rio Grande averaged more than 100 points a game in winning 39 straight last season, mostly against what some called "pushover opposition."

The 1953-54 schedule includes Dec. 4, Villanova at Philadelphia; Dec. 12, Hillsdale at Hillsdale, Mich.; Dec. 22, North Carolina State at Raleigh; Jan. 6, Butler at Indianapolis; Jan. 2, Hillsdale at Rio Grande; Jan. 9, Anderson at Anderson, Ind.; Jan. 27, Shurtleff College at St. Louis, Mo.; March 1, Creighton at Omaha, Neb.

Associated Press figures today show that southpaw Eddie Lopat leads the circuit with a 2.52 ERA. The 35-year-old veteran has given up 47 earned runs in 186 innings. He has won 15 games and lost only three.

Barry Dahlberg and Gryzbowski are slated for guard spots and Roy Nelson will likely get the call at left tackle. All three reported for football after school started and have yet to see game action.

David Chernick, a guard, and Pete Kasbohm, starting guard, are still on the injured list and will probably not be available. Center Bob Johnson is recovering from injuries suffered two weeks ago against Crystal Falls and will be ready for duty at center. Dick Shepherd may be available for kicking duties.

At ends, Bark River will have Wayne Erickson and Terry DeLoughary while Louie Dubord will open at right tackle.

The Bark River backfield will consist of Wallen Godlewski, Leonard Lesniewski and Jim LaVigne, halfbacks, Dick Tougiant, fullback, and Bill Good, quarter.

Memphis Golfer Leads Amateurs

OKLAHOMA CITY—A tall, greying automobile dealer from Memphis, Tenn., Curtis Person, stood as the one-day sensation of the National Amateur Golf championship today. But the man who had caught the fancy of big-hearted Oklahoma fans was a long, lean, wisecracking Irishman from Dublin, Joe Carr.

Person provided the inevitable first-round upset—and the only one among 70 completed matches. He knocked out Don Cherry, the reigning Walker Cup player from Wichita Falls, Tex., 4 and 3.

Carr, the 32-year-old clothing manufacturer who beat Atlanta's Harvie Ward for the British title last June, put on one of Monday's shoiest performances to win his first match from Harold Foreman of Glenoe, Ill., 7 and 6.

Defending champion Jack Westland, and 1950 winner Sam Urzetta, drew first round byes.

St. Joe also has a large number of injured gridders this week but St. Germain expects them all to be ready for Sunday. Missing Monday's practice session were Bob Rademacher, John Berrigan, Dick Cass, Dick Moreau, Leon Mileski and Jerry McDonough. Most of them sustained bumps and bruises in the 26-0 defeat at the hands of the Stambaugh Hilltoppers Friday night.

The Trojans will also be carrying a .500 average into the game. St. Joe capped its opener, 6-0, over Gladstone before losing to Stambaugh.

LaStarza Sure He'll Beat Marciano And Says He Will

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y.—(NEA)—The smile was thin and veiled a bit of edginess.

Roland LaStarza was getting a little tired of reporters asking him why he was so sure he would beat Rocky Marciano and win the world heavyweight title.

"What do they expect me to say?" he half shrugged, half asked. "I'm going to lose? Listen, this is a guy I know I can beat. So I say it, period."

Rollie doesn't resent the endless flow of questions as the waves of newsmen filter through his training camp at Long Pond Inn, smack dab on hill-enclosed Greenwood Lake. He's intelligent enough to appreciate publicity.

"But reporters can be funny, too," he smiles. "They come over, kind of confidential, and say 'Come on, Rollie, how's about something new, something different?'"

"A-ha," I say to myself, "here comes Routine 42."

"I tell them everything I've told you and all the others—this man is made to order for me. He can be hit by every punch in the book, and I've got those punches. He has to knock me out to win, and he didn't do it last time, and I don't think he hits any harder now than he did three years ago."

"A guy's got to start slowing up, too. The records list Rocky as 29. From what I've heard, he's at least 31."

Rollie's a supple 26. He looks good. Squat, like his opponent-to-be, but perhaps broader through the shoulders and a trifle more

Baltimore Bullets Sign DePaul Star

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Brooklyn—Wallace (Bud) Smith, 138½, Cincinnati, stopped Arthur King, 137½, Toronto, 5.
Saginaw, Mich.—Al Andrews, 152, Superior, Wis., decisioned Chuck Davey, 147, Lansing, Mich., 10.

San Antonio—Al Jurgens, 139, San Antonio, scored a TKO over Santiago Gonzales, 137, Mexico, 3.

Robinson Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies is the runner-up in the National League. The right-hander shows 94 earned runs in 314 frames for 2.69. His won-loss record is 21-14.

Bob Buhl of Milwaukee is third at 2.77; his teammate Lew Burdette is fourth with 3.11 and Brooklyn's Carl Erskine and Harvey Dix of the St. Louis Cardinals are tied for fifth place, with 3.21 apiece.

Detroit Red Wings Step Up Training

SAULT STE. MARIE—A stepped-up training schedule was in prospect today for the Detroit Red Wings, defending champions of the National Hockey League.

The Wings reported to camp in such good trim Monday that Manager Jack Adams and Coach Tommy Ivan planned to give them some shooting and rushing drills.

No member of the five-time NHL champion team was more than 10 pounds overweight, Adams said, and yesterday's 90-minute workout took three to seven pounds off most of the players.

The Ice Capades of 1954 will have 13 performances in Madison Square Garden beginning Sept. 10.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

Biggest charge of the year comes from a "fan" letter of the poison-pen variety. The writer accuses us of all kinds of mean things and knows that we wouldn't "dare" print it. But the brave soul who wrote it didn't have the intestinal fortitude to sign it. Probably afraid they'd have to try to prove their point.

Ironwood's Pat Cvergros, 200-pound fullback, played a big part in the 25-2 Red Devil victory over Duluth Denfeld Friday night. Cvergros was the offensive threat that kept Denfeld honest through the middle while other Ironwood backs lanced for large gains. He scored the second Ironwood TD on a six-yard plunge.

Pete Kutches, former St. Joe Trojan athletic great, made an early jump into the headlines of the Laramie Daily Bulletin at the University of Wyoming. Late last week the paper ran a full-size picture of Kutches in a lengthy football roundup. Kutches was called a promising sophomore candidate who has been moved by new coach Phil Dickens from tailback to wingback this year.

Cage fans of this area no doubt remember Frank Fazi, a star athlete at Soo Loretto and later with Sault Tech. A basketball whiz, Fazi last season scored 381 points for Tech to lead his team to the Upper Peninsula Intercollegiate Athletic Conference cage crown. He is currently enrolled at Los Angeles University, near Los Angeles.

slender in the waist, he's equipped to make the forthcoming fight one for the books—a battle between a relentlessly aggressive, free-wheeling puncher (Marciano) and a natural counter puncher (LaStarza), who's been known to come out swinging in desperation flurries when stung.

His training sessions have been marked by vigor and a zeal to trade punches that contradict the reputation for caution he's built up.

This Roland LaStarza is remarkably self-possessed, cocky in an unobtrusive manner. He has more of a grimace about him than Marciano, although he told about the heat wave affecting his roadwork.

"I started out to do four miles one morning," he began, "with jacket, sweater, shirt, heavy pants,

Marquette May Have Best Team In Years

MILWAUKEE—Coach Lisle Blackburne says he may come up this fall with the best football team he's had in four seasons at Marquette University.

His optimism prevails despite a 10-game schedule including such major foes as Michigan State, Wisconsin and Indiana of the Big Ten and Holy Cross and Boston University.

Flashy left halfback Ron Drzewicki, who scored 12 touchdowns last year, heads Marquette's potent backfield, operating this fall from the split-I. Veteran Ray Zagar, top pass receiver of the backfield, is at right half and starting fullback Tony Winkler also is back from last year.

The quarterback slot may go to Dick Shockey of Brookfield, Ill., 6 foot 3, 210-pound sophomore transfer from Kansas State. Shockey is vying for the post with veterans Al Janikowski and Jim Hanley.

The Hilltoppers have good starting personnel in the line—particularly in ends Hosea Sims, co-capt. Dick Raebel and Tom Braatz and tackles Frank Scaffidi and co-capt. Ed Frank. But the lack of depth is bound to be felt. Blackburne sorely needs a few more tackle and a center.

The Hilltoppers open against South Dakota State College at home Saturday.

Yanks Clinch AL Pennant

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sport Writer

The record-breaking New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers will meet in the world series starting two weeks from Wednesday with the Yanks slightly favored to make it five straight two ways—five over the Dodgers in five meetings, five in a row over the National League.

Casey Stengel, who rewrote the record book by managing the Yankees to five consecutive pennants, had this to say after Monday's flag clinching 8-5 victory over Cleveland:

"This is a real good club with real good players."

"Won't Be Scared"

"But I don't think those fellows (the Dodgers) will be scared of the Yankees. They've been in the series before."

There really wasn't much tension in the American League flag chase this season. The Yankees held first place all but nine days. They were never out of the lead after May 11. In the National League, the Dodgers grabbed first place for keeps on June 28 and nailed down their flag 48 hours before the Yankees.

What the Dodger scouts saw in Monday's Yankee game was nothing to give them a feeling of security.

The Indians got five runs off Whitey Ford in the first three innings on five hits, four walks and a hit batter. But against the relief efforts of To Gorman, Bob Kuza and Johnny Sain the Indians got a hit and run total of zero.

Four In Fourth

The Yankees solved Early Wynn with a vengeance in the fourth inning, scoring four runs, and then caught up and sealed the decision against Bill Wight in the sixth and seventh. Yogi Berra broke the tie in the seventh with a two run homer. Billy Martin drove in four of the Yankees' runs with two doubles and a single.

Brooklyn continued to suffer from a pennant winning letdown, losing its second in a row to the red hot Chicago Cubs who ran their winning streak to 10. Johnny Klippstein gave the Dodgers only three hits in the 3-1 victory. He stopped Duke Snider's hitting streak at 27 games.

In other action Monday the Chicago White Sox beat Boston 10-6 despite a three-run pinch hit home run by Ted Williams; Washington whipped Detroit 6-1 and Philadelphia edged the St. Louis Cardinals 6-5.

Williams' homer was his 12th since returning from the marines.

Sophomores Stand Out In Big Ten Grid Camps

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten has struck a bonanza of sophomore football players this season.

Out of more than 200 now competing in practices, coaches consider at least 32 exceptional prospects and 13 of these currently rank as starters, an Associated Press survey shows.

Illinois has six sophomores who rank as standouts. Three have won their spurs as starters. Wisconsin, Iowa and Indiana each has four in the exceptional category.

Here is the all-star sophomore list:

Illinois—Center Jack Chamlin, Robinson, Ill., 5-11, 195 pounds (ex-West Point cadet involved in cribbing expose and now eligible for competition; "I look for him to be one of the Big Ten's best during his two seasons," says coach Ray Eliot).

Halfback J. C. Caraline, Columbia, S. C., 6-0, 185, top break-away threat.

Tackle Floyd McAfee, Joliet, Ill., former paratrooper, 6-2, 205, 180; halfback Eddie Vincent, Steubenville, 5-11, 170; quarterback Terry Moran, River Forest, Ill., 5-9, 185 (All Steubenville entries rate as starters).

(Starters—Chamlin, Caroline and McAfee)

Michigan—Quarterback Louis Baldacci, Akron, O., son of former Akron University coach, 6-0, 200, (Starter).

Iowa—Guard Calvin Jones, Steubenville, O., 6-0, 210; end Frank Gilliam, Steubenville, 6-2, 180; halfback Eddie Vincent, Steubenville, 5-11, 170; quarterback Terry Moran, River Forest, Ill., 5-9, 185 (All Steubenville entries rate as starters).

Tigers Lose 6-1 Game In Washington Finale

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Detroit Tigers said goodbye to the nation's capital today after the season's smallest crowd Monday night saw them drop a 6-1 decision to the Washington Senators.

Only 1,257 saw the game.

It was a disheartening evening for all the Tigers, particularly hurler Ralph Branca and shortstop Harvey Kuenn.

Branca, giving up 10 Senator hits, lost his sixth game of the season in 10 decisions.

Kuenn Held Hitless

Kuenn, who needed just two safe blows to bring his total to 200, couldn't do anything with the offerings of Chuck Stobbs and went hitless in five trips to the plate.

The Tigers, who lost a bit of ground to idle seventh-place Philadelphia, now lead the Athletics by just two games. They take a day off today and move to Boston for contests Wednesday and Thursday, winding up their Eastern play for 1953.

Bob Nieman's 15th home run of the year was the only score the Bengals managed to make. It came in the fourth inning with one out.

Vernon Boosts Average

Wayne Terwilliger got three singles and a double off Branca, and Mickey Vernon picked up a pair of singles in three times up to boost his American League pacesetter batting average to .339.

The Senators got to Branca for two runs and four hits in the third inning and added another in the seventh when Ed Fitzgerald and Stobbs executed a double steal.

The final three Washington scores came in the eighth.

Tiger protests over plate umpire John Stevens' call on the double steal in the seventh delayed the game briefly. Before the rharub was over, Stevens had chased Detroit hurler Ted Gray to the showers.

QUESTION: In an exhibition game between Detroit and Cincinnati this year at Lakeland, Fla., it was reported that Pitcher Frank Smith of the Reds in one inning gave up two hits, yet faced only three batters retiring the side. How did he do it?—Les Wallace.

Answer: Har-Beans Reardon vey Kuenn led off for a single to center. Owen Friend followed with a hit to right field Kuenn tried to go to third on the latter's single, was nailed at the bag. Friend, attempting to move to second on the play, was also thrown out. Russ Sullivan then grounded out, giving Smith the odd distinction of yielding two hits but pitching to only three men during the inning.

Q. What batter struck out the most times in the major leagues in 1952?—Roger Fox.

A. Ed Mathews of the Braves, 115 times. Right behind him was teammate Sam Jethroe, 112. The Indians' Larry Doby and Mickey Mantle of the Yankees were next with 111.

Child Lectures Open On Monday

A series of five discussions on the topic: "Let's Use What We Know About Growing Children" is to be presented in Gladstone High School the evenings of Sept. 21, Oct. 5, 12, 19 and 26 by the University of Michigan Extension Service in cooperation with the Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette, the Gladstone Public School system and local Parent-Teachers associations.

It is for mothers, fathers and teachers and is open to all who wish to enroll. Registration fee for this non-credit series is $1.50 and registration must be made for the whole series. There are no single admissions.

In view of the complicated patterns of family living today, it is the aim of this non-credit discussion series to acquaint parents and teachers with some of the more recent thinking concerning child growth and development. Such understanding will help them provide a more adequate environment in home, school and community.

The five subjects to be discussed are "The Parent's Role," "Problem Children," "What Kind of a School Do You Want For Your Children?" "Growth Curves and the Three Rs," and "Can We Help Teen-Agers?"

Further information on the series may be obtained by contacting either Supt. Wallace C. Cameron or John Norton Jr., director of adult education.

Disappearance Of AP Employee Shows That Reds Are Closing In

(EDITOR'S NOTE: William N. Oatis, the Associated Press correspondent who was jailed by Communists in Czechoslovakia for more than two years, is relating his experiences in a series of articles. In the one below he tells of some of the events just before his arrest.)

One night in February of 1951 the Prague radio broadcast that a policeman had been shot to death near Charles Square in downtown Prague. The killers had escaped. The public was asked to tell the police anything known about them. In that killing, I saw only one item in the day-by-day grist of news that passed through the office. Actually, it was an event that was to wield an enormous influence on my own life.

About a month later Mrs. Hana Svoboda came into the office. She was the wife of Thomas Svoboda, one of my translators, and the mother of his baby daughter. She was looking for her husband, and she was weeping.

He was off that day, and nobody in the office had seen him. His wife, who had a clerical job and had worked herself during the day, would say only that he had left the apartment where they lived with her parents, and had not come back.

Svoboda never came back to work, either. I reported his disappearance to the Ministry of Information, which had approved his employment by The AP, and to the police.

But neither was any help in tracing him. And as I learned more about what had happened that day his wife had come looking for him, I was pretty sure I knew why.

"That Boy Out of the Country"

While Svoboda was in the apartment with his mother-in-law, a strange man had come asking for him. Svoboda had talked with the man briefly in an undertone, and then both had left.

As they walked down the street below, another man had fallen in behind them, and the three had vanished around a corner. That night, plainclothes men had searched the apartment.

It seemed safe to guess that Svoboda was in the hands of the secret police. But, by virtue of the very nature of the secret police, it did not seem safe to say so—not out loud, anyway.

A few days after that, Paul Woydinek of my Czech staff said he had learned the trouble was that "that boy who's out of the country" had been connected with "some people that had something to do with the murder of that policeman."

I had never met "that boy who's out of the country." But I had heard a lot about him.

He was a chum of Svoboda's from college days, a young Czech refugee who lived in Paris and was in and out of Czechoslovakia from time to time.

Woydinek Vanishes

It was fairly clear to me that he crossed the border illegally. But I was unaware of whatever else he might be doing. In fact I did not even know his name.

I had heard of him first from Nathan Polowetzky, my predecessor in charge of the Prague AP bureau. Polowetzky was expelled from Czechoslovakia on grounds of "unobjective reporting" and came back to London in April, 1950, while I was waiting there for a visa to go into that country.

In talking with me about his work in Prague, he spoke of "a little guy" — he did not mention any name — that had given him news, a man that came from Paris but seemed well informed on doings in Czechoslovakia.

After I got to Prague I heard from Czech employees that the man had given Polowetzky a story the Ministry of Information had cited as an example of "unobjective reporting" — a factual story on a coal mine strike in the Bohemian town of Kladno.

Woydinek did not show up for work April 2. I went to his room with an interpreter and found it sealed with paper tape. A neighbor told us what had happened:

About 6:30, as Woydinek was getting ready to go to the office, six plainclothesmen had walked in. Three had led him away. The other three had stayed, searched the place and sealed it.

Exit Peter Muntz

Since Svoboda's arrest, we had seen strange men around our office. One, peeking out from behind a curtain, had looked in now and then through our wide second-floor front windows from another window across the street. Others, haunting a passageway beside our building, had watched our visitors.

On Friday morning, April 20, I awoke about 8:30 in my room at the Ambassador Hotel and telephoned the office to see if there had been any news worth picking up on Prague's morning newscast.

Our old night watchman, who spoke only Czech and German, answered the telephone. I asked for Peter Muntz, the translator who had been due on the job an hour and a half earlier. The old man said, "Nein, nein" — "No, No."

I called Muntz's apartment. His wife said, "Mr. Oatis, my husband is at office." I waited awhile and then called the office again. Again the watchman answered, but a moment later somebody else was on the wire, telling me in broken English that Muntz was not there.

It was a man whose voice I did not recognize. And I thought, "This is a cop. Muntz has been arrested, and if I go to the office I will be arrested too." I asked the man what he was doing there. He said he was fixing the teletype machines.

I drove to the U. S. Embassy. I told the counselor, Tyler Thompson, I was afraid police were in my office. On his advice, I had Miss Mary Horak, an embassy secretary, telephone the office and speak Czech with the alleged teletype repairman. He told her exactly what he was doing to the machines, and we decided he was no impostor—and no policeman.

"Why Should You Worry?"

Richard G. Johnson, the vice consul, went with me to my office. The night watchman was still there. The printer repairman—whom I recognized immediately when I saw him, though I had not recognized his voice — was just leaving. Muntz was nowhere in sight.

Johnson said he could do nothing for him because he was a Czechoslovak citizen. "Now if you were to get arrested," he added — and I gathered that in that case he could take a hand.

That afternoon I went to Dr. Rudolph Popper, head of the press section of the Ministry of Information.

"Three of my employees are missing and I think they've been arrested," I said. "Am I going to get arrested?"

The swarthy, black-haired little man, who looked something like a thin Pierre Laval, asked me if I had a free conscience. I said, "No."

He leaned back in his chair in the tired way he had, looked down his face at me and said, "Why should you worry? You have semi-diplomatic status."

A Big Black Car

It was true that my official accreditation gave me something like diplomats' extra rations. But it was not true that it granted me diplomatic immunity from arrest.

That was Friday. On Sunday at about 10 a. m., I drove out of the public garage where I kept the office car and turned a corner on my way back to the hotel. In my rear view mirror, I saw another car pull away from the curb behind me.

It was a big, black, streamlined Tatraplan, a Czech model commonly used by the secret police. It kept a half block behind me.

Was it following me? I would see. Instead of going straight to the hotel, I made a detour around a block. The Tatraplan followed me all the way. When I parked in front of the hotel, it parked about a block behind.

I hurried inside, picked up my key at the desk and dashed upstairs, two steps at a time, to my room on the third floor. I bolted the door and stood there with cold terror stabbing into my stomach. I decided to go to the embassy. That was U. S. territory, and Czech police could not reach me there. Without thinking to pick up even pajamas and shaving kit, I set out.

Race To The Embassy

There were two ways from stairway to street — one through the front entrance, the other out a side door and down a passageway. I chose the second as the safer.

It was not necessary. Nobody recognizable as a detective was either in the lobby or out front. I slammed the car door and drove off. Down the street, the Tatraplan also pulled away from the curb.

Once I was in National Avenue, I had a straight stretch of almost a mile down past the National Theater and across the Vitava river. Then a turn to the right and another mile's drive would bring me to the hilly side street on which the embassy fronted.

My shadows — there were two men in the car behind — kept a discreet distance till after the turn. Then they started gaining on me.

I speeded up, trying to steer clear of the car tracks in the narrow brick street and wondering how it would be to blow a tire just then.

They speeded up, too, despite heavy traffic. At length the Tatraplan was the third car behind me. But a few seconds later I turned up the hill and parked opposite the embassy.

Two Shadows

I looked back. The black automobile had not followed me into the side street. I ran across to the embassy gate. And for the first time in many minutes I felt safe.

Sgt. Harry Morrissey of the military attaché's office was on guard duty in the front office. I asked if the counselor, Thompson, was in. He said everybody had gone on a picnic except Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs, who was at home.

"Do you want to talk to the ambassador?" he asked.

"No," I said, "I won't bother him."

I returned to the office. Another black Tatraplan picked up my trail and followed me all the way, parking up the street from the office.

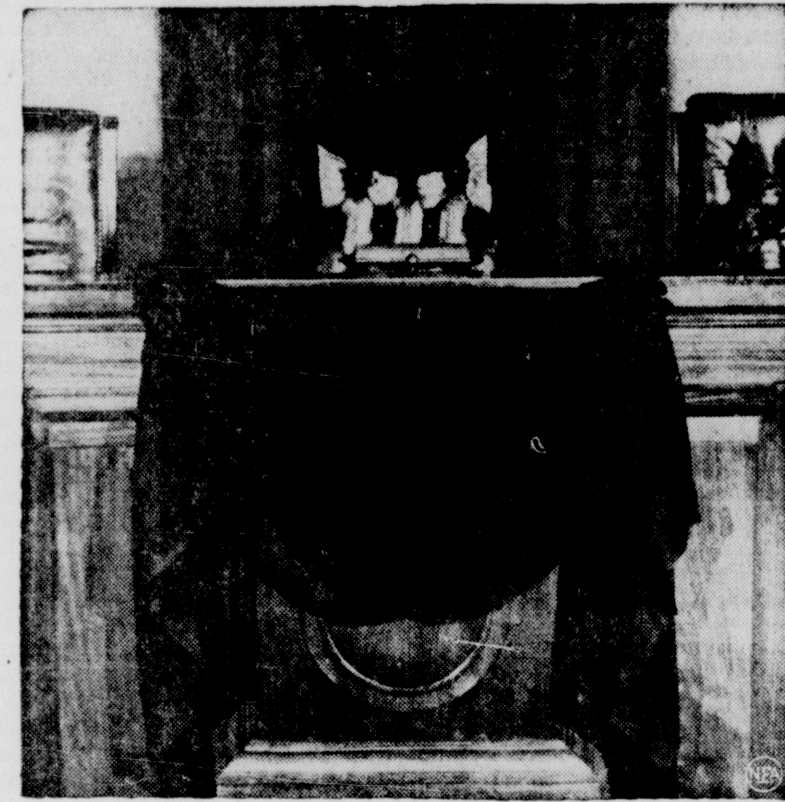

I walked back and looked at the two men seated in it—a little bald fellow with a fringe of gray hair and a thin, swarthy youth who looked Italian — both of them in shirtsleeves. I said, "SIB?" (That is the Czech abbreviation for the official name of the secret police — the Statni Bezpecnost (State Security). The dark young man rotated an index finger beside his right ear: It was a gesture that means, in any language, "You have wheels in your head.")

That evening I was lying on my bed at the hotel when Thompson telephoned, back from the picnic and anxious to know if I was all right. I told him I would see him the next day.

But I did not. Because the next day — Monday, April 23, 1951 — six men walked into my office and arrested me.

Who Will Fill This Seat? Cars Classified For Risk Policy

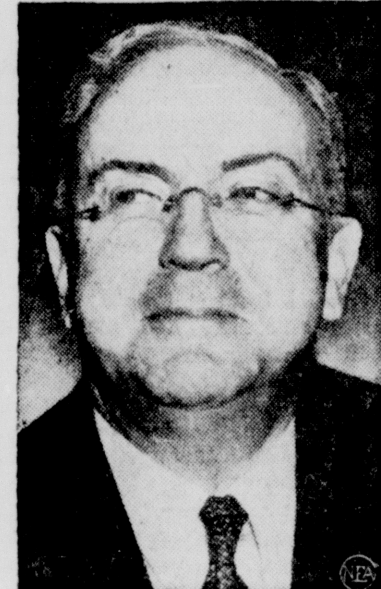

As the nation enters a 30-day mourning period for the late Fred M. Vinson, Chief Justice of the United States, there is countless speculation as to who will succeed the 68-year-old jurist. Experts in the field think that President Eisenhower will pick a jurist rather than a political figure to fill the seat. If he does decide to make his selection from the judiciary, he is expected to give particular attention to Federal Circuit Judge John J. Parker, of Charlotte, N. C., and Justice Arthur T. Vanderbilt of the New Jersey Supreme Court. Lack of a Senate confirmation kept Judge Parker from becoming an associate justice 22 years ago. Vanderbilt was formerly dean of the New York University Law School.

Guarded GI Flees Into Soviet Zone

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—U. S. Army headquarters said today that Pvt. Norman M. Lowell Jr., 23, of Somerville, Mass., jumped from a military train and presumably fled into the Russian zone as he was being taken to serve a guardhouse term in West Germany.

The soldier, under a six-month sentence for exploding a smoke bomb in a barracks prank in Berlin eluded his guards as the train pulled out from a border check point at Helmsdorf Friday night. Army authorities said Lowell jumped through a window and disappeared into the darkness. He was presumed to have gone into the Soviet occupation zone, where several soldiers facing guardhouse terms had fled in the past.

Cars Classified For Risk Policy

LANSING (AP)—A new plan of classifying private passenger cars for bodily injury and property damage liability insurance rates in Michigan was announced today. It was put into effect by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters.

The state insurance department said the plan is effective for virtually all stock companies but is not subscribed to by some independents, mutuals and reciprocal companies.

The plan, announced nationally two weeks ago, is designed to classify automobile use more accurately as a means of computing the risks involved.

Under the previous system, a private car was classified according to the age of the operator and the use of the car. Under the new plan, classes of use are further subdivided according to the degree of hazard resulting from business use or operation by persons under 25 years.

The bureau said that at least 50 per cent of owners of private cars insured by its companies will save on insurance costs under the new plan.

A non-business car with no driver under 25 will receive the lowest rate. A non-business car with no young operator, but which is customarily driven to work, receives a somewhat higher classification.

The schedule raises rates on cars driven by persons under 25 and those used for business purposes.

Farmers will receive rates about 20 per cent below those of other private car owners, compared to the present discount of 15 per cent.

Wake Up To More Comfort

Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Modern Auto Wash Lauanders Children

LINDEN, N. J. (AP)—Anthony Belluscio's Modern Auto Laundry is closed on Mondays—to cars but not kids. Belluscio turns on the showers for neighborhood youngsters every Monday between noon and 4 p. m. Nearby merchants chip in with hot dogs, soda pop, ice cream and cake.

Bill MacFarlane, owner of a tavern a few doors away, and Belluscio's brother Frank, watch over the tykes and see to it that no one goes away hungry. MacFarlane says the men play host to about 80 kids at each of the Monday afternoon "baths". He said the practice has been going on during the summer months and will continue as long as the hot weather and the "customers" hold out.
